

Like the Indiana no call list and don't want the FCC to extend "established business relationship" to our state's law. When I switch from one bank to another it is for a good reason. I don't want annoying calls. They already contact me with emails and junk mail, enough already.